Permanent Class Secretary

Graduated 1883

Student, Academy of Fine Arts, 1886

How did he end up at the 1890 meeting?

1881

A bird club was organized at Haverford College.

It consisted of six members, including a sophomore - William Lloyd Baily

It kept lists of the common birds, and these were regularly tabulated.

The club, however, was short-lived and soon disintegrated.

White-throated Sparrow x Dark-eyed Junco Hybrid

Haverford College 12/12/1882

There are 91 specimens collected by Baily in the collection at the Academy of Natural Sciences, Philadelphia, PA

1884

A club was formed in Philadelphia without formal organization and without a name. It met at several houses about once a month for the comparison of notes and compiling monthly sheets.

The club hardly lived the year out.
